They're Playing Taps for Jimmy Stone

from The Indianola Herald, March 11, 1926, page 1

LeRoy Boyd, who graduated from Simpson College last semester, has won distinct recognition in the field of literature. Mr. Boyd was employed on The Herald staff for three years and was a member of Sigma Tau Delta, honorary literary fraternity, which is an organization standing for the best in literature and scholastic standing.

Mr. Boyd won recognition through the publication of his poem, "They're Playing Taps for Jimmy Stone," in The Rectangle, which is the official publication of Sigma Tau Delta. His work was published alongside that of distinguished writers.

What ho! what means these slow and solemn steps, The muffled drums, the sighing fifes, The company marching in parade, The horse unsaddled there behind the coffin gray? "They're playing taps for Jimmy Stone."

"The paths of glory lead but to the grave," Was written by the poet youth, Was read by Wolfe as up the steep incline He climbed and led his legions forth To battle on the Plains of Abraham. And fell in glory at the end of Glory's way. But Jimmy heard no battle call,

Went through no shot and shell,

In battle neither fell:

He caught the 'flu' as through the silent night He paced his weary beat through sleet and rain.

He did not stand in battle ranks,

But had a cot in the T. B. ward;

And then one night when all was still and dark

He went out West.

Where angels stand on guard . . .

"Take him to the morgue," the major guffly said.

Oh they're playing taps for Jimmy Stone! They're playing taps for him! He's gone out west to Blighty land In answer to the quarters call; And though he was no battle hero brave, His comrades with slow measured step Are marching in his last parade; The guard's called out. And if you'll listen you will hear Them playing taps for Jimmy Stone.

Marieta's rambling comments:

The Warren County Fair has come and gone. Probably the most exciting part of the Fair for me was that we had completed several new publications and had them available for sale! Preparing them required a huge effort on the part of many people over several years! THANK YOU to everyone who helped. In addition, countless researchers for many years to come will also be very thankful for the hundreds of hours spent in the preparation of these publications. Even though I served as the coordinator for the final push, the publications fulfill several of Thelma Pehrson's dreams. She has had a part in every one of them and has pushed and pushed until we got them done.

Again we had some first-time exhibitors and several people attended the beginning genealogy mini-classes. I did some research and found the following exhibit statistics.

2000 158 exhibits
 2000 148 exhibits
 2000 113 exhibits
 2000 127 exhibits

Following the fair, several of the board members began to discuss changes in some exhibit categories and the possibility of adding another level of competition. These will require board approval as well as society approval this fall. Look in the January-February 2004 newsletter for results of this discussion.

As you will notice by the index, this newsletter is full of names! The year 1928 was a huge year for family reunions. I'm sure I did not find in the old newspapers all of the reunions that were held that year—but I certainly found a bunch of them.

Hope you enjoy the newsletter!

Interesting Tidbits:

from Dubuque County Gen Soc, Dec 2003-Jan 2004

In those old days, they cooked in the kitchen with a big kettle that hung over the fire. Everyday they lit the fire and added things to the pot. They ate mostly vegetables and did not get much meat. They would eat stew for dinner, leaving the left-overs in the pot to get cold overnight, then start over the next day. Sometimes the stew had food in it that had been there for qujite a while. Thus in the rhyme, "Peas porridge hot, peas porridge cold, peas porridge in the pot, nine days old."

Bread was divided according to status. workers got the burnt bottom of the loaf, the family got the middle, and guests got the top, or "upper Crust."

England is old and small and the local folks started running out of places to buy people. so they would dig up coffins and would take the bones to a "bone house" and reuse the grave. When reopening these coffins, 1 out of 25 coffins were found to have scratch marks on the inside and they realized they had been burying people alive. So they thought they would tie a string to the wrist of the corpse, lead it through the coffin and up through the ground and tie it to a bell. Someone would have to sit outside in the graveyard all night, thus the "graveyard shift" to listen for the bell; thus, someone could be "saved by the bell" or was considered a "dead ringer."

All of the above is the truth, now whoever said history was boring?

Newsome Reunion

On Sunday, July 29, 1928, the annual reunion of the Newsome family was held at Indianola at the beautiful home of Dr. George W. Newsome, son of Wright Newsome, the revered senior member of the clan, whose continued good health and enjoyment of life is a matter for general rejoicing in the family. The weather man was kind and seemed to have made the day especially for their pleasure, neither hot, cold nor rainy.

The usual well-filled basket was greatly in evidence, and at the appointed time, ample attention was paid to that part of the day's proceedings, but before partaking, thanks were offered to the Giver of all good things, by Mr. Geo. W. Crist, of Woodburn.

The best part of these reunions is the spirit of friendship and fellowship that is fostered among the participants, and which is kept alive from year to year, watching the children develop from baby-hood to beautiful manhood and womanhood, and the older ones, growing old gracefully.

For various reasons our attendance was dimished this year so that around only seventy of our almost 100 were there. During the past year, H. E. and Mable (Parkin) Jones and family went from our midst to make their home in Kendrick, Idaho. Others in Chicago, Ill., Newton, Kan.; Cisco, Texas; Burlington, Des Moines, Sioux City, Clearfield, and Weldon, Iowa; to all of those absent ones, greetings were sent from the reunion. Relatives in Chester, Pennsylvania were with us in spirit in reunion, and we wished for their presence. It was our pleasure to have as our guests, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Wells and little son Jack, of Germantown, Philadelphia, cousins of the Crist branch of the family.

During the year past, death has entered our ranks and taken from us, Dr. Charles L. LaSalle, long-time and well-loved physician of Rockdale, Pa. It has brought joy to two homes in the coming of a little child, to Carl and Charlotte (Williams) Brehm of Des Moines, a son, little Jack; and to Roy B. and Edith (Crist) Weaklund of Clearfield, Iowa, a son, Edgar Francis. There have been three weddings in the family since last we met, Elizabeth B. Newsome to Osman Kennedy, Chester, Pa., Jesse Gore, Jr., to Bertha Sheets, also of Chester; and Helen Parkin of Derby, Iowa, to James R. Morton of Ft. Madison, Iowa; for all these boys and girls of ours, we wish the joy that has no end.

The reunion was remembered by a cablegram from Prof. Thomas Reid of cisco, Texas, who is studying in Europe during the summer.

The day inevitably drew to a close, and we parted to meet next year at the home of James A. Newsome of Derby, Iowa, one of the original boosters of the family gathering that has beome an institution.

Durham Family

The Indianola Record, August 16, 1928, page 1, col 5-7

The eleventh annual reunion of the Durham families was held in the Milo city park on Sunday, Aug. 12. The attendance was 94 and the various families came from as far as Actel, Kans. Greetings were sent from relatives who could not attend from the states of Illinois, Idaho, Maine, Wyoming, Oklahoma and Massachusetts. The crowd was seated at tables in true family style and enjoyed the toasts given by Lincoln Arnold, Hershal Rouse, J. P. Durham and Bert Houser. The short program by the children in the afternoon was followed by the annual business meeting. The most interesting part of the meeting was the reading of the letters and extracts from various historical books which contained information concerning the history of the Durham family and relatives. Pictures taken at previous reunions, with the date of each were posted on a large sheet of cardboard and exhibited on an easel. This collection proved quite interesting to the whole group and especially to relatives who had not attended other reunions. Te next reunion will be held at Auld's park, Knoxville.

Wolford, all of Des Moines.

The afternoon program was as follows: Recitation, Cy Williams; Rachel Collins, The First Warren county fair in the fifties; Lavaughn Mosher, What Makes a Grandma; Hess sisters, negro spiritual; Mildred Beck, Jesus Loves Me; Mary B. Smith, Joe Mosher, Inez Smith, Buying Eggs; Laura Hess, recitation; Alice Munger, a few remarks; closing son, Blessed Be the Tie that Binds.

Some of the men began a wife calling contest. All proved very efficient. The company was then divided into four groups for contests and games. Late in the afternoon they departed for their homes, declaring they had had a wonderful day.

Ancestral Portrait Forrest Nelson

This picture is of Thomas Raisbeck (b. Nov. 1842, d. 1930) and his wife, Mary Ann (Wild) Raisbeck (b. June 1844, d. 1926). Thomas had a stepfather named Mason and Thomas used the name Mason, except in legal matters.

Thomas and Mary Ann Raisbeck (Mary Ann was my Mother's Aunt) raised my Mother, Laura (Smith) Nelson from the age of 4 or 5. It was not uncommon in the 1880s for children to be reared by another member of the family. My Mother always called them Father and Mother and never thought of them any other way. She took them into her home when they were elderly, and this picture was taken with three of their grandchildren. Standing is Mary Ann (Nelson) Huffman (b. Feb 14, 1914, d. May 5, 1955). Sitting on Grandfather's lap is Helena Dora (Nelson) Davey (b. Oct 1, 1920) and sitting on Grandmother's lap is Leroy Lester Nelson (b. March 25, 1924).

This is the only picture that I have of my Grandparents and it was just this summer located in a niece's collection of pictures.

Ancestors of Kaila Wheeldon - 7 generations. Several months ago, I found family tree stickers and decided to do an ancestor chart for each grandchild. Because of sticker placement, no two pages are alike. To test size of photos I made a sample page and used Bethany's photo. For pictures not yet scanned, I used small pieces of paper. McKenzie, age 5, asked who the baby was and I told her. She then looked at the other pages and said, "Where is mine?!" I thought this would be a good way for the kids to grow up knowing where they came from and get them interested in learning about ancestors. In less than eight months I received Emanuel Morr, Philip Sill, Joe and Sarah Bowers and William and Mary Bowers pictures. I had no idea they existed, but it was very exciting receiving them. Complete names and years of birth and death are listed on the next page so the children can become acquainted with their grandparents.

Stephens Reunion

My grandmother wrote "the day the 5 generation picture was taken at my home, W. T. Butler" on the back of a photo. I don't know what happened to the 5-generation picture, but the 5th generation is not in this picture. It was undoubtly taken when Morgan Stephens was visiting, as he lived in Knoxville, ILL. Four generations are Grandma Amos, Ora Conner, Ina Hollingsworth & Ethel Whitlow. Of the people in this picture, Ruth Butler, Charley Amos, Mary Amos, and Howard Amos are still living. (In 1998 only Mary Amos was still living.) My immediate family members in the picture are Grandma Amos, Lourena Amos Butler & husband, Will Butler, and my father Tom Butler.

According to ages of those in the picture, it would have been taken in about 1910 on the Butler farm, the first place east of the Brown's Chapel Church. Morgan Stephens was Grandma Amos' brother. She would have lived 23 years after this picture was taken.

Now to complete the story. One evening a cousin called me on the phone and wondered if they could come over to see if I could identify some photographs. In looking over them, when we came to this big picture, I said, "Oh, there is the five-generation picture. I'd like to have a copy of it!" She said, "You can have it, we don't need it." Oh, thanks, and here it is! This is the best picture I have of my great-grandmother (front left). Her daughter Ora Conner, Ora's daughter, Ina Hollingsworth, her daughter Ethel Whitlow and her son Dwight. The picture also shows the house my grandparents built after the fire and the building they lived in that summer of 1905, while building the house.

Amos Descendants. I showed the first picture one other time at the fair. I don't remember if I got a ribbon or not. It is necessary to use it to explain about my 5-generation picture.

I want it to show, you never give up when looking for family information!

Last Family Photo, November 29, 2002 Sadly, this is the last photo taken of 5 children of Orville and Mary Sill. It was taken at Golden Corral in Indianola when several family members were together for a Thanksgiving meal. The sisters and brother are Harriet Allgeier, John Sill, Myrna Couch, Virginia Wheeldon and Linda Hutchison. Linda was diagnosed with cancer about 6 months before this gathering. Very soon after, she began to lose her health rapidly and passed away March 29, 2003. Our mother often had pictures taken when we were young, but, as we reached adulthood, it became almost mission impossible to get everyone together so tgroup photos are few and far between.

This is the home of James (1837-1914) and Mary (1854-1951) Boot, my great-grandparents. This was taken about 1896 when they lived near Wilton Junction in Muscatine Co., IA. I don't know how or why the one person is lighter. They may have been playing croquet when the photographer came by, as some of the children have mallets.

They bought the home from her parents, Herman and Sarah Nolte. My history book says another house was on the property, was moved and joined to the house. With 10 children more space was welcome. In 1939, 4 of the children returned to this home and stood in the rooms they had lived in 75 years ago. My great-grandmother, Mary, was one of them.

These are the census records for Nathan McNeer, my husband's 2 great-grandfather, for the years of 1870, 1895 and 1900. It shows he was born in PA, his father in Ireland and mother in Germany (this I hadn't found before). It shows he could read, write and speak English. The James and Samuel McNeer were his brothers. Clara, wife of Robert McNair, was his sister. At this time families lived near each other.

John Amos. We have just started working on this family. We used old letters and what I can remember hearing family talk about. He was my great-grandfather Amos' only brother. He was educated in Ohio, became a Methodist clergyman and went to Kansas. This we found when we researched in the Library in Topeka, Kansas. Why did we not find Ella or Nell in the 1880 census? This calls for more research as we know she married a Mr. Smith and had 3 children. Ella or Nell is the same person and Lucy or Florence is the same person. They had 3 daughters.

Water, Water, Water

A supply of good water was a necessity for the pioneer settlers of Iowa. The first residents chose to buy land along a river or stream. Soon windmills dotted the plains and water was available on the farms. A windmill is composed of a wheel of blades set at a common angle and mounted on a shaft. The wheel is held with its face to the wind by a vane, or rudder. The wind strikes the blades and forces the wheel to revolve. The mill gets the full force of the wind by being mounted on a tower of 20 feet or more. The energy generated by the windmill is used to distribute water on the farm. The location for the windmill was often chosen by a "water witcher" or "dowser," a person who used metal rods to determine where there was an adequate vein of water.

Blue Prints of a House Built in 1905

My mother said she had heard that the first house on the Butler farm had also burned. We never had any proof until we found in a newspaper where the house on W. H. Butler's farm had burned in April 1878. This helped prove this. I don't have any old pictures of the "smoke house" where the family lived in 1905 when the current house burned, but a part of it can be seen in the picture of the house built in 1905. I have no proof, but I think maybe the smoke house may have been built at the time of the first fire. It was 3 rooms with an upstairs or ceiling over the back two rooms. This was reached by a ladder and my father said the "kids" all slept up there. I do know the building was modified some for the family to live in that summer of 1905.

The 1905 house was moved from its location at Browns Chapel to an acreage back in a wooded area [near the old site of Hammondsburg] and is now a retreat home for a couple of college teachers. the blueprints are interesting because I know some of the modifications that were made. The closet in the kitchen became a pantry and had a window in it. There was also a porch added on that side of the house. There was also a change of some of the windows.

When I was a child, there was always a large sugar bowl on our kitchen table. We used this sugar spoon to sprinkle sweetness gnerously on our cereal and fruit. Like almost all farm families of the 20s and 30s, our diet was plain and simple. We had no pre-sweetened foods and few desserts. I remember my mother's caution that sugar would cause "sugar diabetes."

IOWA 1856 CENSUS MAP

Showing those counties which were enumerated in 1856.

The 82 counties for which 1856 census schedules exist.

Hamilton county included in Webster county.

Warren county schedule no longer exists.

CATEGORIES: Name, age, sex, color, birthplace, occupation (age 16 and up), voter, native/naturalized/alien, owner of land, years in state, marital status: married/widowed/single for each member of the household where appropriate.

No census was taken in these counties: Buena Vista, Cherokee, Clay, Dickinson, Emmet, Hamilton (counted with Webster), Hancock, Humbolt, Ida, Lyon, O'Brien, Osceola, Palo Alto, Plymouth, Pocahontas, Sioux, Winnebago and Worth. In addition the returns for Warren are missing and only Little Sioux and Sergeant Bluff townships of Woodbury county survive.

No Census Day was established for the 1856 census. The Census Day was the day upon which information gathered was tobased. Dates on the 1856 forms indicate it was taken in the latter part of 1856.

The 1856 census was bound into 33 volumes which were filmed by the Genealogical Society of Utah in 1977 on 26 microfilm reels. The volumes were then retired to the State Archives and can be examined by researchers only if, in the view of the archives staff, a filmed entry is unreadable.

STRENGTHS:

- * Completeness of most entries is exceptional.
- * "Years in State," coupled with the birthplace of family members, is most helpful in determining which 1850 Census Index will locate them for further study.
- * "Owner of Land" checked, plus "Years in State" will narrow the time period for deed searches.
- An ancestor located in the 1856 census is acceptable proof for an Iowa Genealogcail Society Pioneer Certificate.
- * Indexes for 26 of the 81 counties enumerated are available to assist researchers.

WEAKNESSES:

- * Faded ink makes many entries difficult sometimes impossible to read.
- Poor assembly of original schedules into volumes resulted in non-sequential paging for some towns and/or townships. It is imperative to use the Register to insure locating all pages to be searched.
- Poor assembly of original schedules also resulted in mis-matched pages for agricultural statistics rendering them of questionable value for researchers.
- * Unlike the 1850-60-70 Federal Censuses for Iowa, which have both a State and Federal copy for comparison, the Iowa 1856 Census has no other copy.

Marieta's note: This is material I found at IGS—now I know why I couldn't find the 1856 census for Warren County—it doesn't exist!

Please keep in mind that a state census was taken in lowa in 1856, 1885, 1895, 1905, 1915, and 1925. Often this is extremely useful information for verifying locations of ancestors. However, some of these records are easier to read than others.

Also keep in mind that other states did not take so many special census counts. Only lowa, New York and Kansas to regular counts of their population.
